Institute Introduction

“Silkroad Innovators Institute” is a cultural and academic institute, established in 2009 in Iran by Dr. Aghil Gharaee. This Institute aims to present new academic and scientific education systems to students and scholars around Iran in order to offer new opportunities for education and academic development.

“Silkroad Innovators Institute” has an official license from the ministry of education, the ministry of guidance and welfare organization and book publishing and is a member of TESOL and IATEFL.

It is also collaborating with international centers like Cambridge, Wimbledon School, British Council and Pearson and could offer all educational services in the field of teaching the English language from holding Teacher Training Courses to Learner's educational courses.

We have branches in Turkey and Armenia and in the field of teaching the Persian language we are cooperating with Russia.

In the field of Natural science, we are contracting with Canada.

We also represent two American and English universities: Colorado State University, and University of St. Andrews.

Currently, more than 300 centers in Iran benefit from the educational services of our institute.

The Silkroad Institute also has experience in Mind Development in 2010.
